

	This is the square one. Place your pieces or movement pawns here, choose who will be the initial player and then each player draw a circle on one bread ingredient on their character sheet. All that's left is for the first player to roll the dice and advance across the board! The others will play their turn in clockwise order. In addition, every time a player falls here or passes through this square, he will receive another loaf of bread.
	Special movement dice: <ul style="list-style-type: none">  Positive die: If you fall here you roll the die again and keep moving forward on the board!  Negative die: Oh no! Roll the die again... but you will have to move back the squares indicated!
	Ingredient dice: <ul style="list-style-type: none">  You win a meat-type ingredient.  You just got a fresh lettuce!  Sign up for a tomato for your snacks or salads.  Did you need cheese? Well, add that!  You win an egg. Don't drop it! Roll a 6 and choose from the five above!
	This square is a real doozy! If you fall into it, you can circle an ingredient (the one you want) on your character sheet. Take a good look at what you need!

Before working at the fast food restaurant, Catchup, Mousetard, Spicy and Honey were cooks at a snack bar. Live their competitive adventures in this board game for the whole family!

What does it take to play "Battle of Sandwiches!"?

Print the sheet with the board and menus and this sheet with characters. As extras you will need the following: some colored pieces or pawns to move around the board with your character, a 6-sided die, a pencil to point/tap ingredients, and at least two people who want to have a good time!

Advice: Plasticize the sheet of the board to make it more resistant. Character sheets are used up in every game, so try printing them in black and white!

Catchup

How to use the character sheet: Move around the board and each time you get an ingredient check one of its blank box with a circle. If you collect ingredients that match to form a dish (see the game sheet), tick their boxes on your sheet, as well as a numbered one. Whoever ticks first the five numbered boxes will win!
